The GREIFSWALD-WIECK (N 55/P 72) airfield was not serviceable. Two new farmyards had been established on the landing field, most of which was plowed. A repair shop was housed in an intact hangar. The still intact barracks were occupied by civilians.

 Comment:

Report shows that the condition of the airfield has not changed in recent months. According to observations made so far, it is not assumed that the field will be put in operation in the near future.
